

GAME HOST

D&D

ABOUT THIS JOB

Supported by your Support Worker, you will help run D&D night at ESports Collective. You set the room up, get the books and the dice out, and keep the table moving so the quieter players get a turn. It is not one table, it is the community around it, and people come back because someone made them welcome. You might learn to be a Dungeon Master one day, or you might not, and that is fine. The best part is you get to play.

WHAT YOU DO

- » Set the room up before the players arrive
- » Get the books, dice and character sheets out
- » Teach the basics to anyone new to the table
- » Keep the table moving so everyone gets a turn
- » Pack the room down at the end of the night

WHY THIS JOB MAY SUIT YOU

- » You know D&D well enough to help
- » You are happy at a busy, noisy table
- » You are patient with new players
- » You like keeping track of things
- » You like a long game, not a quick one
- » You want experience for your resume
